2018 Uniform Procedures Implementing Department of Education Policy

Policy Summary

The Department of Education supports the wearing of school uniform to promote a sense of belonging for students and create a positive identity for the school community.

A new uniform policy has been introduced for NSW public schools, which for the first time includes the option for girls to wear shorts and pants. The new policy says all students should have the opportunity to access the full range of school activities while wearing a school uniform, including physical activities, and girls must have the option to wear shorts and pants. Each public school decides on its school uniform in formal consultation with students, school staff, parents and the school community.
